Q: Are there Chinese social networks & they censored? A: Yes but it doesn't matter, everybody just plays bleeping farmville #googleinchina

12-Mar-10 22:49 | riacale

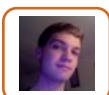

RT @karinab: #googleinchina #sxswi Stat of the day 2. there are over 800 million mobile phone users in China

12-Mar-10 22:39 | fmcblog

Respect kaiser kuo but i wonder if someone who lives in china can really be straight w/ us on this topic #googleinchina #sxsw

12-Mar-10 22:36 | jasonclement

Just left the #googleinchina talk. Very enlightening. Appreciate the idea of Chinese Internet being about entertainment than information

12-Mar-10 22:35 | nbonsack

"of course the chinese govt censors their social media sites but the people are more interested in playing fucking farmville" #googleinchina

12-Mar-10 22:34 | jimnel

Good advice, if you are planning to listen to Mark Cuban and Avner Ronen and you are in China Google Ballrom D - stay here #googleinchina

12-Mar-10 22:31 | scooternyc

Excellent points #GoogleinChina panel. Some editorial content from US does alarm Chinese of the motivation to destabilize their country.

12-Mar-10 22:29 | jacquizhou

Chinese social networks dwarf Facebook, and they're censored, but "most ppl go on there to play fucking farmville anyway." #googleinchina

12-Mar-10 22:29 | screeny

If Google leaves, it would be a real setback to China, says Kaiser Kuo at #googleinchina. #sxsw

12-Mar-10 22:28 | enrightamy

One cost of doing business on Google's international scale: Greatly complicated government relations. #googleinchina

12-Mar-10 22:26 | screeny

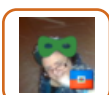

Excellent preso- #googleinchina at #sxsw2010. Balanced and insightful <http://twitpic.com/186a6x>

12-Mar-10 22:26 | allenweiner

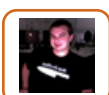

US anti-comunist & Chinese nationalists share a common assumption that uncensored internet would destabilize party rule. #googleinchina

12-Mar-10 22:24 | screeny

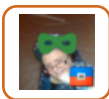

#googleinchina #sxswi initial response from google made Chinese Govt circle the wagons, reacting 2 perceived interference nat sovereignty

12-Mar-10 22:23 | karinab

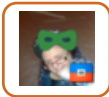

Some good points from @kaiserkuo at #googleinchina panel, particularly on "self-discipline" commands and the influence of china's tech savvy

12-Mar-10 22:23 | foodgoesinmouth

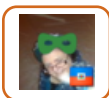

#googleinchina #sxswi 3possible scenarios Worst. blow up and they Google.com gmail, talk blocked, lose access to huge mobile mrkt

#googleinchina #sxswi Also bad for Chinese business overseas which would be a big factor as well for Chinese Govt response to Google

#googleinchina #sxswi It could be embarrassing for China, but could help govt appease strong nationalist pop + outrage urbanites

#googleinchina #sxswi For Google to shut down operations in China is a logicistal nightmare, so what happens when they fully stop filtering

12-Mar-10 22:14 | karinab

There is no doubt Google with stop censoring on Google.cn. #googleinchina

12-Mar-10 22:13 | Gillinger

#googleinchina #sxswi wrap up the middle class/urbanites are pushing the boundaries of participation but with strong limits + boundaries

12-Mar-10 22:12 | karinab

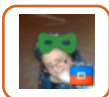

RT @screeny: Internet has become de facto public sphere. As a result, social media sites are most frequently censored. #googleinchina

12-Mar-10 22:12 | jacquizhou

RT @karinab: #googleinchina #sxswi Stat of the day 2. there are over 800 million mobile phone users in China

12-Mar-10 22:11 | EdPomfret

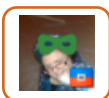

#googleinchina #sxswi saying that there are some very strong limits, but is clear it is moving to participatory system, netizens have impct

12-Mar-10 22:10 | karinab

Internet has become de facto public sphere. As a result, social media sites are most frequently censored. #googleinchina

12-Mar-10 22:09 | screeny

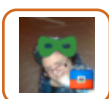

#googleinchina #sxswi Example was the women who did not go to jail for killing attackers in self-defence after outcry by Chinese netizens

12-Mar-10 22:09 | karinab

@billt Yes, thanks for noticing. Bartlett's here I come! #googleinchina #sxsw

12-Mar-10 22:08 | fuzheado

#googleinchina #sxswi Significant way Chinese net has develop over last two years as a public sphere for discussion, + influencing politics

12-Mar-10 22:08 | karinab

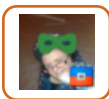

"Electroshock therapy for internet addiction in China was only recently banned" @KaiserKuo #googleinChina

12-Mar-10 22:08 | StephanieDM88

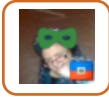

RT @karinab: #googleinchina #sxswi Chinese internet content is Entertainment Superhighway instead of Information Superhighway.

#googleinchina #sxswi it is used to be that English Media (BBC) used to be blocked, not it is social networks as it enables ppl to organise

#googleinchina #sxswi most chinese internet users do not bump up against the firewall as they mainly look at Mandarin lang content

12-Mar-10 22:03 | karinab

Did you know that China has Virtual Internet police avatars that appear on ur computer when you try to go to censored sites? #googleinchina

12-Mar-10 22:02 | dherman76

#googleinchina #sxswi two policing avatar pop up and tell you you shouldn't be looking at that site/page if you look at "bad" content

12-Mar-10 22:02 | karinab

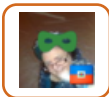

There are two avatars that pop up if you watch unwanted material. Two cute internetcops. #googleinchina

12-Mar-10 22:01 | Gillinger

RT @merrylake: Very timely. RT @huffingtonpost China Warns Google: Obey Or 'Pay The Consequences' <http://bit.ly/cscedy> #googleinchina #sxswi

12-Mar-10 22:01 | MeghanSkiff

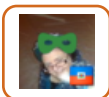

#googleinchina #sxswi It is the self-censorship that happens on every ISP, portal, discussion board, comments, to avoid being shut down

12-Mar-10 22:00 | karinab

2 types of censorship in China: The Great Firewall, which is easy to fight, and "Self Discipline", op:s do it themselves #googleinchina

#googleinchina #sxswi But how does censorship work in China. The Great Firewall of China. Not just about not getting services or websites

12-Mar-10 21:59 | karinab

Listening to a great talk by @KaiserKuo on Google in China #googleinchina #sxsw

12-Mar-10 21:59 | ZachSkylesOwens

The government is aware that its rather easy to "hop the firewall" #googleinchina

12-Mar-10 21:59 | Gillinger

The Great Firewall has become the Iron Curtain 2.0 #GoogleinChina

12-Mar-10 21:57 | AnnaCurran

Cultura difference: US see 1 amend. as universal, Chinese: a luxury when all bellies are full #googleinchina

A sense of loss from liberal Chinese over loss of Google along with anger over Google from nationalist youth in China #googleinchina #sxsw

12-Mar-10 21:53 | jacquizhou

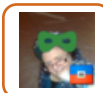

Since jan 12, and the announcement, Google hasn't made any action at all regarding presence in China #googleinchina

12-Mar-10 21:53 | Gillinger

@tdavidson sitting in #googleinchina - where are you guys?

12-Mar-10 21:52 | sucklevine

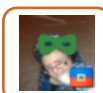

#googleinchina #sxswi There was a sense of loss by these particular customers - laying flowers at HQ, but rallied nationalist groups

12-Mar-10 21:52 | karinab

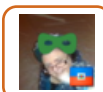

Kuo says "Why hasn't China hoisted Google out?" #googleinchina

#googleinchina #sxswi Interesting is that Google customer base seems to be more urban, coastal (richer) than other Chinese search options

#googleinchina #sxswi The hacking attack on Google also included 100 other companies, Google respond by announcing it stop wld filtering

12-Mar-10 21:49 | karinab

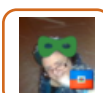

"Not just Google" , sigh. #Googleinchina

12-Mar-10 21:48 | Gillinger

100 companies were attacked by hackers, not just China. Kuo doesn't know what supports the notion it was government attack #Googleinchina

#googleinchina #sxswi Stat of the day. there are 384 milion internet users in China.

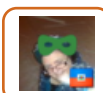

12-Mar-10 21:46 | karinab

@kaiserkuo is delivering a fascinating presentation on Google in China at

#SXSW #googleinchina #fb

12-Mar-10 21:46 | geoffharcourt

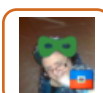

#googleinchina #sxswi Google ended up with a respectable market share but could never compete with Baidu,

12-Mar-10 21:45 | karinab

Google didn't want to make the same mistake as Yahoo, eg giving away info on users to the government #googleinchina

#googleinchina #sxswi Google learnt lessons from Yahoo and didn't host personal information of users and also protected their own employees

12-Mar-10 21:43 | karinab

RT @billt: Less of a problem than anticipated getting into #googleinchina - politics less interesting than design at #sxsw ? <http://yfrog.com/joi2tj>

12-Mar-10 21:35 | StephanieDM88

Now hosting Kaiser Kuo's #GoogleInChina at #SXSWi

12-Mar-10 21:34 | codex24

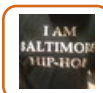

The situation is still in limbo. Google is still in China, still censoring #googleinchina

12-Mar-10 21:34 | Gillinger

Listening to @kaiserkuo talk about the Google backstory in China. #sxsw #googleinchina

12-Mar-10 21:33 | rickmurray

Sitting in the #googleinchina session at #sxsw

12-Mar-10 21:33 | poplifegirl

At the #googleinchina panel as a way to guarantee me a seat for Cuban/@Boxee event. This worldwide bickering is fascinating though
